

The Evidence of Effectiveness: Beyond the Methodological Standards

Stephen V. Gies , Eoin Healy and Rachel Stephenson

Research and Evaluation Division, Development Services Group Inc, Bethesda, MD, USA

ABSTRACT

There is growing recognition that policymakers can achieve substantially better results by using an evidence-based approach to solve social problems. Nevertheless, there is still considerable debate as to how best to identify evidence-based information, aggregate and process this information, and then disseminate it to non-technical users. This manuscript discusses the sources of this discord within the context of evidence-based registries and propose ways in which to ameliorate it.

ARTICLE HISTORY

Received 28 October 2019
Accepted 4 February 2020

KEYWORDS

Methodology; evaluation; evidence-based; policy-making; research to practice